MoReVoX Releases New Drum Replacement Library

Italian sound developer MoReVoX has released Elektromorph 2, its latest library of drum replacement samples for use with Drumagog or other DAW software. The library is divided into two types of signal paths, called "Massive Path Sounds" and "Creative Path Sounds", and mix analog and digital processing to provide everything from extremely dry and natural samples to totally over-the-top processed hits.

The library has 118 instruments and a total of 880 24-bit samples, including 30 kicks, 40 snares, rack toms, sidesticks, snares, cymbals, and more; it's available on DVD or as a digital download.
